

HOODOO

Akan Ancestral Religion in North America – Pt. 4

4-Week Online Course

The Akan Adinkra symbols Sunsum, Okrakonmuade and Ohene Aniwa define the nature of the Spirit, Soul and the fusion of the Spirit and Soul respectively. Adinkra symbols are matrices, Abosom (Deity) shrines-in-miniature that carry the power to draw the Abosom and Nananom Nsamanfo (Deities and Honored Ancestral Spirits) to the ritual space. These symbols have thus been employed ritually for thousands of years from ancient Khanit (Nubia) through Ghana and Ivory Coast and into North America within the Hoodoo Religion. These symbols also define the nature of the reality as the Spirit-body and Soul governing all of Creation. This includes the life-cycle of the Owia (Sun), the life-cycle of the Afurakani/Afuraitkaitnit (African~Black) human being, the life-cycle of our institutions, our ritual healing practices and more.

The sacred colors fufuo, kokoo, bofua ne tuntum, (white, red, yellow and black) define the movements of the Owia (Sun), the division of the seasons in our sacred calendar, the healing properties of our medicine (Goofah dust, Komfo dust) and the nature of our spiritual temperaments (Earth, Air, Fire, Water) and more. While it is advisable to access the course archives of our HOODOO Parts 1-3 prior to Part 4 it is not necessary.
